The Power Within project is a national portrait exhibition presenting a photographic collaboration of 24 young people with a care experience and high profile Australians.

The exhibition presents a candid and honest insight into the lives of people with a care experience, and overcoming adversity to rise to achieve a satisfying and successful life.

The Power Within project works to address the negative stigma experienced by people with a care experience. High profile Australian's involved in the project include Linda Burney (MP), Richard Hill (CREATE Foundation chairman, businessman), Paul Howes (National Secretary of the Australian Workers Union), Betty Klimentko (businesswoman, Westfield heiress and V8 Supercar boss), David Hill (business leader, advocate, writer and CREATE Patron), Stephen Smith (Opera Tenor, and CREATE Ambassador), Layne Beachley (multiple female world title winning surfer, motivator), Sam Bui (My Kitchen Rules TV celebrity and entrepreneur), Greg Johnson (businessman and CREATE Board member), Rose Parker (WA singer/song writer and occupational therapist) Lewis Abdulah (WA Young Person of the year 2013) and Fay Alford (Foster Care Association of WA Director), and many more.
